Firm foundations and the members’ positivity are what strengthens the Federation, believes NFYFC’s President Poul Christensen

As President of the National Federation of Young Farmers’ Clubs (NFYFC), it is an absolute privilege to represent such a fantastic organisation. I have been so fortunate to experience all aspects of what it means to be a member of NFYFC today. From the highly impressive competitions to the high-profile discussions about the industry’s future.

I was a member of a Young Farmers’ Club (YFC) some 60 years ago and so many things have changed since then. But the one thing that has remained constant is the enthusiasm of the membership and the desire to work together to steer the Federation in the right direction.

My wife Margaret and I have enjoyed each and every one of our visits and we are so grateful to everyone who has invited us to their event. It is always a thrill to see so many members and their families at events and competitions throughout the country. Not only at national activities – but also at rallies and county shows.

There are plenty of reasons why our members love being part of a Young Farmers’ Club. For many it is a sanctuary – a place to form long lasting friendships (and in some cases marriage!), develop lifelong skills and share time supporting others. Living in a rural community can be lonely – but YFCs can help to combat that isolation and NFYFC’s Rural+ campaign has been a real success in showing us all how to do this.

One of the positive ways to help mental well-being is to assist others – and Young Farmers do this in bucket loads. YFC fundraising happens practically every week, but what was even more inspiring was to see the practical support our members gave during the Somerset floods in 2014. When the rain fell down and ruined livelihoods on the Somerset levels, Young Farmers were among the first to start collecting and delivering forage. They were the ones who rolled up their sleeves and helped farmers restore their businesses. They didn’t wait for Government intervention. They just got on and did it themselves.

I am constantly in awe of this can-do attitude when I speak to members. At a recent consultation to discuss how to attract more young people into farming, it was YFC members who told a packed room of industry professionals that they were each responsible for their own futures.

It’s this determination that should reassure everyone that the industry will be in safe hands. And so too is our Federation. We face constant challenges, but we have firm foundations and a dedicated network of members. By working together we can only grow stronger.

I would encourage all members, where possible, to share their views on the Federation’s future. It is our members that run the Federation and it is their ideas and passion that will create an NFYFC that is fit for the next generation of Young Farmers.

To all members, I wish you the very best of luck for the coming year – and enjoy yourselves!

Poul Christensen
Supporting each other and the wider community is an ethos shared by all our Young Farmers’ Clubs.

The year began with some of the most devastating floods that the UK had ever seen. But the response from Young Farmers to the crisis was extraordinary and one that epitomised everything that NFYFC is proud to be about.

Clubs from all over the country quickly worked together and raised more than £25,000 in forage and cash donations. They were also on hand to help with the clear-up when the water levels receded.

While Somerset was one of the counties to suffer the most from the torrential downpours, Young Farmers’ Clubs (YFCs) from near and far rolled up their sleeves to help.

There were mass donations of forage – in Essex they collected more than 400 tons’ worth – as well as huge fundraisers to support those whose homes and businesses were damaged. And once the water receded, Young Farmers were on hand again to clean up the debris and restore what had been destroyed.

Thanks to the support of Young Farmers, and in particular Ed Ford of Essex YFC, Forage Aid is now well on the way to becoming a fully-fledged charity, which will provide quick relief to any farmers affected by flooding in the future.

While this benevolence was on a grand scale, involving clubs from as far north as Cumbria to as far south as Cornwall, it is this community spirit that runs throughout our 615 YFCs.

Every year they all fundraise for local and national causes as well as give up their time to support their local communities in myriad ways such as hosting events, clearing up litter or delivering food hampers at Christmas.

Our 25,000 members across England and Wales make up one of the largest rural youth organisations in the UK and are famous for their propensity to give. Aged 10-26, our members are part of an organisation that provides a vital social connection for young people who live and work in the countryside.

Collectively, we provide friendship, training, competitions, and travel opportunities as well as the platform to voice opinions on issues affecting rural young people.

Encouraging our members to talk more was part of a major campaign in 2014 when NFYFC launched the Rural+ campaign.

The campaign aimed to raise awareness about rural isolation and to promote the signs and symptoms that might suggest someone is experiencing mental health issues and needs support.

Working closely with The Farming Community Network (FCN) and YoungMinds, the Federation produced support materials to help beat rural isolation. Thanks to support from TAMA, posters, designed by members, were circulated to clubs and Rural+ cards were sent out to each member with helpline numbers for leading charities. It was an emotive topic but one Young Farmers took to their hearts, with many raising money for the two charities. One County even released a charity single called Put that Hoedown that made it into the UK Top 60 singles chart.
"The response from Young Farmers to the crisis was extraordinary and one that epitomised NFYFC"

Awareness of rural isolation and mental health issues has definitely improved, with clubs inviting FCN in to talk to members as well as generating coverage in national and local media. The campaign hashtag #RuralPlus has reached over 3.5 million people on Twitter – largely thanks to a tweet from the Prime Minister! Claire Worden, NFYFC’s National Chairman of Council, and the inspiration behind the campaign, received a Point of Light award from the Prime Minister for recognising the importance of mental well-being among rural young people.

As well as all of the campaign efforts, Young Farmers have still been competing, travelling and generally enjoying themselves. Our Annual Convention managed to beat all previous attendance for the last 10 years, with more than 5,500 people visiting us in Blackpool for a fun-packed weekend.

The competition programme continues to offer our Young Farmers the opportunity to develop lifelong skills and grow in confidence. And our comprehensive training programme offers extra ways for young people to advance their careers and personal development. NFYFC works hard to prepare our members for the future so they continue to be ambassadors for rural life and the farming industry. Working together with our clubs and counties in each of our seven Areas, we are a Federation with firm foundations and big aspirations for what lies ahead.
We have certainly had an action-packed year! Your Annual Convention had the highest attendance for many years, and may I thank you all for supporting the Levy increase.

The income we have enjoyed for many years through HOPS Labour Solutions has not been available this year. Unfortunately, the massive changes the business has been forced to make this year have left HOPS unable to make its annual donation to NFYFC.

We hope HOPS has now consolidated its business and will soon be in a position to be financially supportive to NFYFC again. HOPS is an excellent labour provider to the agricultural and horticultural community and their success benefits the Federation.

NFYFC has an excellent staff team lead by James Eckley and during 2014 we recruited a new Head of Marketing and Development, Maria Burke, and a new Communications Officer, Sam Conway. We have also recruited a Membership Development Officer for the South East Area to support the development of clubs and counties in that location.

We are expecting 2015 to be a challenging year for the NFYFC Board with important decisions to make over the membership programme so that we can deliver against the budget constraints that we now face. We are indebted to our sponsors and supporters who helped us in 2014. Their generosity of both time and money helped us to provide a wide range of educational training for our members as well as key competitions and events. Huge thanks must also go to our Fundraising Officer Christina Evans who helped us to achieve so much this year.

The NFYFC Development Plan is now progressing, and is highlighting many areas that need to be addressed so that our Federation can move forward and be fit for purpose for 2015 and beyond. We listened to the membership and made our budgets and financial information more transparent and accessible for members in 2014. My thanks go to Jim Minshaw, our Financial Controller, for making the many changes so that this information could be made available and understandable. John Hardman has now served his full term as Treasurer for NFYFC and is stepping down from the post. Thank you to John for his support and advice and for helping to initiate many changes.

It is a privilege to be your Board Chair, supported by Vice Chair Julia Pointon, Our Chief Officer James and all the staff, your Area representatives and excellent officer team. Your Board was strengthened in 2014 by two new independent members whose different viewpoints have been of huge benefit. However it is you the members and county staff who make it all worthwhile!
Chairman’s statement

Helping to beat rural isolation was a challenge that captured Young Farmers’ hearts and minds, says 2014 Chairman of Council Claire Worden

I will never forget my first Council meeting as Chairman in February 2014 when I launched the Rural+ campaign. I have experienced the impact of rural isolation but when other members revealed their emotional stories too, I realised how many people suffer in silence.

Working together with a number of organisations – especially The Farming Community Network (FCN) and YoungMinds – Rural+ has helped to raise awareness about the mental health issues that can affect rural young people. The response from members has exceeded my expectations and it’s great to hear about clubs inviting FCN in to talk about mental health.

For me personally, it was wonderful when the campaign received national recognition and I was awarded a Point of light Award from the Prime Minister David Cameron.

One act of kindness that has stood out among all others was Young Farmers’ reaction during the floods in Somerset. Among those speeches at my first Council meeting was a heartfelt plea from Somerset for the farmers who were dealing with the damage to their homes and facing fears for their livestock.

So many Clubs pulled together to gather forage and supplies to deliver to Somerset. And when the floods had gone, we were still on hand to offer support with the clear-up. It was not only testament to the strength of NFYFC as an organisation but to the industry as a whole.

I have been honoured to represent the Federation at events throughout the year, including The Oxford Farming Conference, the NFU conference, the General Assembly (Rural Youth Europe) and the Farmers Weekly Awards. I was also invited to carry the harvest torch and give a reading at the Great British Harvest Festival and was a judge at the national finals of the NFU Mutual Rural Crime Fighters awards.

One of my aims this year was to bring Council and the membership closer together by being more honest and transparent. I wanted the membership to have all the facts so they could make informed decisions.

We have made great efforts to achieve this and Council is now proactive in representing its members and their views. Council meetings have been fantastic – and the motivation throughout the Federation is a credit to you all.

Thank you to every single Council member, every member that I have spoken to this year and every County I have visited. Thank you also to all YFC supporters and friends. And finally to the NFYFC officers, staff, County staff and everyone who I have had the honour and privilege to work with – it has been an exceptional year and I couldn’t have done it without you.

“When other members revealed their emotional stories too, I realised how many people suffer in silence”
Helping others is a major activity for YFCs and their very existence can offer a lifeline for rural young people who might feel alone.
Preparing for the future

The vast range of training and development opportunities offered through our Young Farmers’ Clubs equip our members with lifelong skills. Youth work is at the heart of our organisation to help our members thrive in their rural communities and give them the confidence to achieve their goals.

Friendship has always been at the centre of Young Farmers’ Clubs and in 2014 members certainly showed how much they care. When Somerset was devastated by floods early in the year, YFCs joined forces to raise money, collect much-needed forage for farmers and help with the clean up.

Members were praised across the media and some were rewarded for their efforts in contributing in such a generous way to help the wider farming community. Helping others is a major activity for YFCs and their very existence can often be a lifeline for rural young people who might otherwise feel isolated and alone.

NFYFC’s Rural+ campaign aimed to raise awareness in 2014 about mental health issues that can affect rural young people and special help cards and posters were issued to all members.

Our five steering groups continue to plan activities that evoke the ethos of the organisation – including Competitions, Agriculture and Rural Issues, Events and Marketing, Personal Development and our Youth Forum. It is the members who help to shape the organisation’s agenda, creating a programme of activity that educates, informs and entertains.

Agriculture and Rural Issues

It was a busy year for the AGRI Steering Group, which kicked off by changing its name from ARAC. This set a precedent for improving the way that Agricultural and Rural Issues are communicated to the membership, what it means for members and how they can get involved. Many counties have followed suit with the name change and others are now creating AGRI roles and committees within their federations – a move which further enables more members to have their say on important industry issues.

A monthly newsletter was launched to provide regular updates to Steering Group members and county AGRI-links people to help disseminate information to members. Each issue gets better and we have had very positive feedback.

The latest Common Agriculture Policy (CAP) continued to unfold during 2014 and AGRI took every opportunity to have input on key decisions, both at home and in Brussels through CEJA (The Council for European Young Farmers). Although NFYFC is not a political organisation, increasing our attendance at key meetings to tell the powers that be how it is on the ground for rural young people has made a real difference to the support we will see for young people in agriculture for years to come.

Several members were invited to a consultation at St George’s House on ‘Attracting and Supporting New Entrants to Agriculture’. Members participated in in-depth discussions, with industry leaders and other young people, about the initiatives already in place and the barriers for progression.

Commitments were made to do more, particularly in promoting careers in agriculture to school children, plus the matching service previously investigated by NFYFC will be revisited.
AGRI also supported farmers following some of the country’s worst ever floods. Members Ed Ford from Essex FYFC and Jock Muirhead from Somerset FYFC were instrumental in leading the work of Forage Aid and along with many others their support and donations were hugely valued by those in need.

Agri-technology was the topic of the 2014 AGRI-Forum held during Annual Convention and more than 100 Young Farmers attended to engage in the issues and discuss the future.

With support from NFYFC staff, YFC AGRI also organised and delivered 13 training workshops to 133 members, which included tenancy training with Savills, grassland training with the British Grassland Society, meat for the market training with Eblex, social media training with Social B and a Walk the Wool Chain event with the British Wool Marketing Board.

A study tour to Holland was also attended by 43 members, and in the latter part of the year a junior study tour took place to Scotland for under 18-year-old members.

Thanks go to AGRI sponsors – Massey Ferguson, Mole Valley Farmers, HOPS Labour Solutions and Kuhn Farm Machinery for making much of this possible and to our supporters Defra.

Events and marketing
This year the Group had some cosmetic changes – shortening its name to Events and Marketing. Despite this, the remit has increased from overseeing communications, marketing, fundraising and events to now also helping to direct the YFC ski trip.

The ski trip has grown in popularity over the last few years, but improved promotion during 2014 resulted in nearly 500 Young Farmers signing up for the 2015 trip to Tignes. The trip was a success thanks to the hard work of the two Reps from each Area who took bookings and signed people up to the trip and to event organisers Outgoing.

The major part of the Steering Group’s function is the Annual Convention, which is the highlight of the year for a lot of members. It was held in Blackpool for a consecutive year with more than 5,500 attendees – the highest number for at least 10 years. As well as the exceptionally high standard of competitions that took place, there was also excellent evening entertainment from DJs from Radio 1 including Chris Stark and Scott Mills. Some would say that they were upstaged slightly by Essex FYFC who gave a live performance of their charity single Put that Hoedown!

NFYFC now has a dedicated mobile-optimised website for Annual Convention (www.yfcconvention.org.uk) that was launched ahead of the event so members didn’t miss a thing during the packed weekend.

A large part of the Group’s focus is on social media activity through Facebook and Twitter. It is an effective way for the Federation to communicate with members and more clubs, counties and Areas are now adopting their own Facebook pages and Twitter handles.

NFYFC has more than 25,000 likes on its Facebook page and over 7,500 followers on Twitter, meaning that during 2014 the Federation’s press coverage has reached out to 21 million people!

YFC Buzz, the monthly e-newsletter, which tells members about all of the exciting things that go on at NFYFC, continues to be popular with more than 18,000 subscribers. The organisation also continues to send members a printed copy of the magazine Ten26 three times a year. Both of these publications help to bridge the gap between national and grassroots members.

The NFYFC website is continually updated with the most up-to-date information and news about competitions and events.

It has an average of 876 visits per day and it has helped to increase enquiries to the Federation from people who are interested in becoming a member.

Competitions
Competitions remain at the heart of the Federation and are enjoyed by virtually
The programme encourages members to use competitions as a way to develop their skills, talent and expertise – while having fun at the same time. The theme for the 2013-14 competitions year was ‘Serving Our Country’ marking the 100-year anniversary since the start of World War 1.

At this year’s Annual Convention, spectators were treated to top performances in the Entertainments finals and the Senior Member of The Year competition. The first ever Fun Darts competition was hosted at Convention and everyone also enjoyed the performances in the finals of the Disco Dancing and Choir competitions. The annual Competitions Weekend in Staffordshire showcased the variety of skills Young Farmers have to offer. From a road safety competition – introduced in recognition of the Drive it Home campaign – to the presentation skills delivered in the Public Speaking competitions and Junior Member of The Year, members excelled. Sports Day included Mixed Badminton Doubles, Mixed Touch Rugby and Mixed Rush Hockey and earlier rounds ensured maximum participation from members and resulted in a brilliant standard at the finals.

During the summer we celebrated the NFYFC Dairy Stockjudging finals at the Great Yorkshire Show before going to the Tenbury Show for the Tug of War and Cube Exhibit finals. Action, drama and controversy reigned – and there was even a new ‘just for fun’ 4+4 catch weight Tug of War competition.

Harper Adams provided the venue for the Farm Skills Weekend, incorporating the Stockman and Young Stockman of The Year finals, Fence Erecting and the Side-by-Side ATV with First Aid element. Poignant and emotional reflections to the theme of ‘Serving Our Country’ were made in front of hundreds of spectators at the Malvern Autumn Show in the Cookery and Floral Art finals.

The English Winter Fair was a resounding success in December with members judging either Beef or Pig Live and Carcase with the YFC Stock Judge’s dinner in between.

We have held 35 competition finals this year, organised by the Competitions Steering Group. Good value indeed!

Personal Development

NFYFC had an exciting opportunity to work in partnership with the National Council for Voluntary Youth Services (NCVYS), the RSPB and the Canal and River Trust in a project that would encourage more young people to take part in projects that supported their local communities. The project gave clubs the opportunity to access funding from the Government’s Youth Social Action Fund to support them in their community endeavours. Lots of clubs have been recognised for their activities, including clearing up communal garden areas, repainting community buildings and supporting local schools.

The Source continues to develop and is very much an essential toolkit for YFCs. This year funding was secured which meant that each County Office could receive a printed copy of the Source, which means information can be accessed easily. The Source is also available online for clubs and members to consult and it is hoped that it will be further developed to make it even easier to view online.

There is now a strong team of Trainers spread across the country who are part of the Trainers Forum. These members continue to deliver training to grassroots members, including the ten Curve course modules.

New Curve courses are also under development to offer members an even wider choice of training opportunities, such as a Cash Management course, which is supported by NatWest. Together with the AGRI Steering Group, the Federation has also been able to offer bespoke agricultural training opportunities.

The YFC Travel programme is continuing to attract new members for homestays, work scholarships and team travel opportunities. In 2014 members went to Ghana and in 2015 the USA and India are new trips to feature among the choice of locations.

At the Selection Day in 2013 there was a 58% increase in applicants for trips and 2014 continued to attract large numbers, who all impressed the interview panel.

Youth Forum
The Youth Forum is made up of Junior Member of the Year finalists and Area representatives, who meet to discuss everything from competitions, travel, agricultural issues, the Chairman’s campaign, promotions and events.

Forum members are all aged under 20 years old, and share the voices of the youngest members. This year the Forum has marked momentous occasions in NFYFC’s history, developed a programme of work, and injected a bit of youthful energy into the agendas of the other steering groups!

At the Forum’s Residential Weekend in Herefordshire, a Chairman and Vice Chair was elected and at the following Council meeting the Youth Forum was formally recognised as a Steering Group for the first time.

In April, the Forum marked NFYFC’s 80th anniversary by burying a time capsule at the site of the first Young Farmers’ Club in Hemyock, Devon. It was a special day that involved current and former members of Culm Valley YFC. The capsule was buried near to the site of the United Dairies Factory, which is where the calf rearing club evolved into the first VFC. The capsule will be unearthed in 2058 to mark the 125th anniversary of the national Federation.

Forum members have attended meetings in London with the National Council for Voluntary Youth Service (NCVYS) and other youth organisations to discuss common barriers to participation. Forum member Georgie Morris from Shropshire FYFC proposed motions for greater recognition of rural mental health issues at the British Youth Council’s (BYC) Annual Council Meeting in Sheffield. The motion was passed almost unanimously, and should be integrated into the BYC’s programme of work for the next year. Georgie also attended a BYC event in Birmingham to speak to children from inner city schools about our field-to-fork campaign.

An immense amount of work has been involved in producing the game ‘Watch that Cowpat!’ It’s aimed at primary school children to educate them in a fun way about where their food comes from. Members met with a games designer and have trialled a prototype, funded by the Rural Youth Trust, at many shows and events. The Forum is now looking for sponsorship to roll the game out to counties.

The game was trialled at the CLA Game Fair at Blenheim Palace in Oxfordshire after a successful pitch to the show’s marketing team. The stand was used to promote NFYFC and lots of families played the game and provided useful feedback.

The Forum helped to influence the choice of an under-18s sailing trip for members and some of the members from the group sailed around the Channel Islands. Plans are now underway for an under-18s ski trip.

The Forum has also been featured in national media titles – including the Farmers Guardian, Farmers Weekly and the NFU magazines.

The development of the Youth Forum was bolstered in 2014 by the support of sponsors AGCO Parts.

The increased excitement about the work of the Forum is really encouraging, as it continues to evolve and be at the forefront of innovative NFYFC initiatives.
DAVID HAMER, COMPETITIONS

“I have loved every minute of being Competitions Chairman and I have been able to meet so many members by being at all levels of competition in districts, counties and areas. Competitions are emotive so making a judgement on the best course of action is tricky but each member and their opinion matters. The Steering Group have worked hard in making decisions, establishing rules and stabilising venues. We have strengthened links with outside organisations to increase exposure and worked with some great sponsors who have agriculture at their heart.

Although every competition final has been a highlight, I am most proud of the WW1 themed Floral Art displays and Parbold YFC in Lancashire for competing internationally after winning our GENSB Tug of War competition. Many thanks to the Steering Group for their work and I will continue to support them in the future.”

RUSSELL CARRINGTON, AGRI

“What a great year we had and I’ve been very proud to chair the AGRI steering group during 2014. There have been challenges along the way with meaty issues to discuss and conclude, as well as changes to and uncertainty about funding, but we really have excelled and managed to achieve a great deal in 12 months. I have learnt so much about Facebook and Twitter and their importance to how members communicate. Social Media is not the future, it is the present and like me, we must embrace it. This year’s committee have been fantastic, with packed out meetings every time and lots of ideas flying around all the time. I’d like to thank them all and wish them all the best for 2015.”

SIONED DAVIES, YOUTH FORUM

“I have loved being a part of the Youth Forum – they are a fantastic, forward-thinking, and fresh-faced bunch who always add a new flavour to the discussions at national meetings. There has been a real buzz about the Forum this year, which I think has been reflected in the excitement around our field-to-fork game as well as the coverage in the media. I can’t wait to see the projects that we are currently working on come to fruition.”

DAVID MAIDMENT, EVENTS AND MARKETING

“The role of this steering group is so far ranging, from Annual Convention to the ski trip and from our activities on social media to what we sell in the Club Shop! Before I became Chairman, I didn’t have a Twitter account, but this year

NICOLA CHEGWIDDEN, PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

“Looking back at my time as Personal Development Chairman, it is incredible to see what we have achieved. We wanted to promote our activities to more members and at the 2014 Annual Convention we showcased YFC Travel, and feedback showed we had one of the best stands there! I’ve really enjoyed seeing members achieving and taking part in things that they wouldn’t have done without NFYFC. Lots of clubs benefited from the Youth Social Action programme with funding for helping out with local community projects. More members have also taken part in regional training and this has enabled them to train more members in their own counties. A highlight of the year was seeing my Club take part in a community project, clearing an overgrown area of a school playground. It brought the Club together and they gained valuable skills thanks to the encouragement and promotion from NFYFC.”

Celebrate the highpoints of 2014 with reviews from the Chairmen of the six areas of England and from Wales that make up the national Federation.

WEST MIDLANDS AREA

Our biggest highlight was reaching over 3,000 members in the West Midlands Area (WMA), which means we can send two teams to compete in the national finals in 2015! It was also great to see the support that members gave each other when participating in competitions and events. YFC is truly a place where members are safe and can enjoy taking part in activities. Congratulations to all the WMA teams that reached the national finals, some of which came away with top prizes. Thanks to everyone in the Area for all their support. Alex Mackellar

WALES YFC

We have enjoyed another successful and exciting year with a jam-packed programme of competitions and opportunities. Firstly members from across Wales took part in the Chairman’s Challenge by giving up their time to help their local community, something which is always close to the heart of YFC Members. Meanwhile this year’s 14,000-strong Young People’s Village was entertained by Greg James, Scott Mills and Sive. We also launched the Skills Bank at the Royal Welsh Show – a scheme where members can receive an AQA accreditation for the work they do in YFC. Wales YFC hosted this year’s European Rally in August in Margam Park, which was a huge success. Thanks to all those who took part and helped organise this great weekend. We are extremely grateful to our members, supporters and sponsors for all their support over the past year. Kate Miles

SOUTH WEST AREA

We have enjoyed another successful year with high standards of competition at both our Activities Weekend in Newquay and Competitions Day at Lackham College which gave us some fantastic results in the national finals. One highlight was travelling with 50 junior members to The Brecon Beacons for their annual Activities Weekend. It was lots of fun and many faced their fears whilst forging new friendships. All of our members have such passion and enthusiasm and it has been a pleasure to work with them over the past year. Thank you to everyone who has supported me – I’ve loved every minute of it and would do it all over again if I could! Tess Cadman

It was a busy year for the Northern Area. Lancashire was a hive of activity in March when they held the Area Weekend, East Riding hosted the Field day in June and Cumbria hosted the stockman competitions in July. It was a highly successful competitions year with many qualifiers finding success at the national finals. We also visited the Isle of Man Young Farmers, which was a chance to discuss everything about YFC. It was brilliant and we are now hosting the Northern Area 2015 Stockman of the Year competition on the Island. Thank you to all counties and members for their dedication to YFC.

Sarah Leach

We kicked off the year with the East Midlands Area (EMA) training weekend in Northamptonshire, which focused on leadership skills, meeting management and decision-making. A massive thanks to John Beresford and his team for organising another fantastic, fun filled, educational weekend. March was busy with the EMA Entertainments round and the EMA weekend. Lincolnshire entered the Entertainments for the first time in about five years so I was very proud when they managed to finish second. The EMA weekend in Skegness is always a great weekend and this year was no exception. The members have made it another great year for our Area.

Gareth Laking

We have seen a lot of change over recent months, with new members of staff beginning to find their feet and helping each County to progress and improve. We have also started using new social media accounts successfully to promote the Area. We held Spring and Summer Competitions Weekends for the first time in many years, which were both well attended by counties in the Area. It has been a privilege to be the Area Chairman for the last three years. I really hope that we, as a committee, have moved the Area forward. Huge thanks to the Area committee members, counties, and NFYFC staff for their help, support, and enthusiasm during my tenure.

Stuart Jakeman

It has been a great year of competitions for the Eastern Area both at National and Area level. One of the highlights for me was the Area Summer Competitions Day, which was a great opportunity for all counties to come together and for members to get to know each other. In a smaller region it is sometimes hard to generate attendance, but this last year has been great and a brilliant team has ably assisted me. We hand over to the Committee of 2015 and I know they will continue to put on great events and competitions.

Laura Flower from Bakewell YFC in Derbyshire enjoyed partying with Young Farmers in Northern Ireland. “I would recommend a YFC Travel trip to anyone. I stayed with two host families and my first week was on a pedigree Holstein farm in Belfast where I helped to prepare three cows for the Balmoral Show. I went to lots of Young Farmers’ events, a country music night and milked some cows!”

AUSTRIA
Nicole Doidge from Cornwall FYFC visited Austria and spent two weeks with a family. “I went to lots of attractions including an annual body painting festival championship where 47 countries took part. I also went hiking and saw the world’s highest wooden observation tower and many other sights. I was made to feel part of the family where I stayed. It was a great way to see another country and have an unforgettable experience.”

New beginnings

HOPS made a fresh start in 2014 under tough trading pressures, explains Director John Hardman

It was a year of uncertainty in 2014, for both growers and labour providers. The conclusion of the SAWS scheme created a lack of labour security, as farmers and growers were able to source their own labour from abroad. This has led to new challenges for HOPS with a sudden increase in new labour providers approaching our clients for their business.

The supermarkets’ on-going battle for market share has caused a price war that impacts on their suppliers and the management of a seasonal workforce.

Farmers have been forced to review their options and have employed cost saving measures where necessary, with labour taking the biggest hit.

With no SAWS restrictions now in place, farmers can employ their own staff for full-time and seasonal posts that were previously supplied by HOPS.

This cost-conscious shift has caused a drop in requirements from HOPS this year and especially for Polish employees, which has resulted in the closure of HOPS Polska, the company’s office in Poland.

Despite these new challenges, HOPS has still managed to retain a good level of orders for labour from our long-standing clients.

A new website has been launched, which incorporates all of the new divisions of the company, including Recruitment, Education, Executive and Labour. This has given the company a fantastic online platform to grow the business. Plans are now underway to develop this site and to eventually be the first choice for agricultural and horticultural businesses to source their labour requirements and to help jobseekers find the next step in their careers.

HOPS plans to work closely with NFYFC to highlight how the business can assist the rural industries as well as YFC members in their recruitment needs. It is a plan we are confident will return HOPS to a winning position and in turn continue to provide financial security for NFYFC.
